WHERE THE WILD THINGS ROAM

Dine by moonlight, go tiger spotting in the wilderness or just sit back and listen to the songs of the forest. At Khem Villas, nature is at your doorstep

BY CHARU SHARMA

Picture this: you wake up to the chirping of birds, fill your day with endless walks in the wilderness, forest safaris and star gazing, and pamper yourself with a luxurious massage! If your idea of a perfect holiday is being in the lap of nature, Khem Villas is where you should be.

Located on the outskirts of Ranthambhore National Park, the luxury jungle camp was originally established on grasslands that have, over the years, been converted into a natural habitat for local wildlife. To minimise its impact on the environment, the camp has taken several measures – the cottages have been constructed using in-grown thatch, small water bodies have been created for farming, solar power is used extensively and the food (vegetarian) served is cooked with home-grown vegetables.

Enhance your experience with a therapy at the property's Age Veda Spa and you've got yourself a happy and holistic holiday.
